Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) coordinated National Take Back Day on Saturday, April 26, 2025

The drug overdose epidemic in the United States is a clear and present public health, public safety, and national security threat.

DEA's National Prescription Drug Take Back Day reflects DEA's commitment to Americans' safety and health, encouraging the public to remove unneeded medications from their homes as a measure of preventing medication misuse and opioid addiction from ever starting.

DEA is committed to making our communities safer and healthier, and we can do this by reducing overdoses and overdose deaths.

To find a location near you go to <https://www.dea.gov/takebackday> Enter your zip code, county, city and state.

Last April 2024 the total weight of medications turned in to the DEA was 18,570,487 lbs. (9,285 tons).
